

Amazing Archives

The future of our past is ever present

It won't be long before the end of the year arrives. All of us have our unique way to tap into our hearts to prepare for the greatest celebration of all time - the birth of our Savior. Whether that includes shopping till you drop, decorating your house from top to bottom, or singing Christmas Carols with your friends and family while you sip hot spiced cider or egg nog (or something that may make you dance on the table wearing a lamp shade singing Grandma Got Run Over By A Reindeer), the memories and traditions continue.

I hope you join me in one of my traditions. The beginning of each year I like to sort through the boxes of my family memories. This segues into cleaning the closets, drawers and files. I have a box labeled 'for archives' that church related articles and pictures get placed.

The archives has very little information about the first church. Any information you have that you would like to share would be a prized possession to add to the church's history.

Have a blessed, awesome Christmas!
